Les certifications qui doivent être recertifiées pendant la période de transition

Les dates d'échéance de la recertification approchent à grands pas et certains titulaires de certificat doivent obtenir une ou plusieurs recertifications en END dès le 15 janvier 2020. Les titulaires de certificat qui ne réussissent pas le ou les examens de recertification exigés au plus tard à la date d'échéance de leur recertification propre à la méthode ou au secteur :

1. ne détiendront plus de certification valide;
2. ne seront pas admissibles au renouvellement de leur certification

Pour éviter les retards dans le traitement des demandes et la planification des examens ainsi que la perte de votre certification, l'OCEND de RNCAN vous recommande de demander votre ou vos recertifications dès que possible si une ou plusieurs de vos certifications doivent être recertifiées en 2020, 2021 ou 2022 et se situent dans la période de transition pour la recertification.

Si vous faites votre ou vos demandes de renouvellement avant d'avoir passé votre ou vos examens de recertification, l'OCEND de RNCAN traitera votre demande (y compris le paiement des frais), mais ne renouvellera pas votre certification tant que vous n'aurez pas réussi votre ou vos examens de recertification. Veuillez noter que le paiement des frais ne termine ni ne garantit les processus de renouvellement et de recertification. Les frais de renouvellement et de recertification ne sont ni remboursables, ni transférables.

Mesures d'adaptation et prolongations temporaires liées à la COVID-19

En avril 2020, l'OCEND de RNCAN a mis en œuvre des mesures d'adaptation et des prolongations temporaires liées aux certifications initiales et aux renouvellements/recertifications pour certains candidats et aux dates d'expiration. Certaines de ces prolongations sont déjà expirées, et toutes les prolongations pour le renouvellement et la recertification expireront d'ici décembre 2024. Il incombe aux candidats à l'accréditation et aux titulaires de certificat de faire le suivi de toutes les dates d'expiration et d'échéance et de gérer leurs demandes et leurs attestations en conséquence. Pour en savoir plus, veuillez consulter notre page sur les mises à jour des programmes de l'Organisme de certification en essais non destructifs sur la COVID.

Protection contre la fraude

Vérifier

Il est recommandé que les employeurs et les clients vérifient les prétendues certifications du personnel d'end effectuant le travail. Nous encourageons les personnes et les entreprises à vérifier activement l'état de la certification d'un employé en consultant systématiquement la liste actuelle des employés certifiés en END par RNCAN qui est publiée sur Internet. Cette information est rendue publique à l'appui de l'article 9.3 de la norme CAN/CGSB-48.9712-2014 comme un mécanisme supplémentaire de vérification du statut de certification.

Les images ne sont pas fiables

N'acceptez aucune télécopie ou image numérisée de carte format portefeuille comme attestation de la certification; consultez plutôt la liste publiée sur le Web.

Signaler des irrégularités

Pour veiller à l'intégrité de la certification CGSB/RNCAN et éviter les ennuis juridiques ou financiers, veuillez aviser RNCAN de toute anomalie perçue dans la certification d'une personne.

Légal

Cette liste de personnel des END actuellement certifié par RNCAN a été produite chez RNCAN et était exacte à la date indiquée. Il est strictement défendu de modifier la présente information de quelque manière que ce soit. L'utilisation de cette information à d'autres fins que celles prévues par par RNCAN peut être illégale et/ou une infraction au Code de conduite pour le personnel des END. L'Organisme de certification national en essais non destructifs (OCEND) de RNCAN est le propriétaire exclusif de tous les certificats en papier et les cartes d'identité délivrés. Ces biens peuvent faire l'objet d'un rappel en tout temps. Veuillez prendre note que l'organisme de certification national en essais non destructifs (END) de RNCAN déploie tous les efforts raisonnables afin de veiller à ce que les demandes des candidats, les demandes d'examen et les soumissions de certification soient traitées conformément aux objectifs des normes de service. Malgré cela, l'éventualité d'une erreur, d'une omission ou d'un retard ne peut être complètement écartée, et RNCAN ne peut être tenu responsable des coûts, des dépenses ou des retards directs et indirects qui pourraient éventuellement survenir.
